NCERT Solutions for Class 5 EVS Chapter 4: Our School — A Happy Place

What this chapter teaches.

What makes a “green school” — managing waste properly, saving water, using electricity carefully, and planting trees; proper waste management — reducing what we use, reusing items, and separating waste into dry waste (blue bin) and wet waste (green bin); water conservation — using water carefully and preventing wastage; and how a happy school comes from friendship, kindness, cleanliness, and a positive environment, not just facilities.

Activity 1 — Green School Checklist.

Children make a checklist of green practices (waste segregation, water-saving taps, tree planting) and check which ones their own school already follows.

Activity 2 — Sort the Waste.

Children practise sorting different kinds of waste into dry (blue bin) and wet (green bin) categories.

Activity 3 — Acts of Kindness.

Children think of and share small acts of kindness (sharing, helping, caring) that can make their school a happier place.

Why This Chapter Matters

Learning to care for both the school environment and the people in it builds both environmental responsibility and empathy.
